

Abstract

In a method and apparatus for controlling access rights of users for accessing via at least two operator control units, the same application which is preferably provided in a vehicle, access principles are provided on an application-specific basis.